

America's leading scientists have repeatedly informed us that the roadless portions of our national forests are not only the most significant habitat for fish and wildlife, but are critical sources of clean drinking water for over 60 million Americans. As our population grows and open space succumbs to development, watersheds on public lands are increasingly important.

The forest conservation policy is the result of an unprecedented public input process and has overwhelming public support. Claims by opponents of this policy that it is just an 11th hour regulation by the previous Administration are unfounded. The debate over roadless area management has been fought in the courts and the Congress for over 30 years. The path towards an affirmative policy on roadless area management began in January 1998 with the Forest Service's announcement of a proposed road-building moratorium. The final policy released on January 12, 2001 received more public comment than any other federal rulemaking process in our nation's history. It is a product of over 600 public meetings, including several in every single national forest in the nation. At its conclusion, the agency had received input from over 1.6 million Americans, the vast majority of whom supported the policy, with a remarkable level of support for the inclusion of the Tongass National Forest in Alaska.

The Roadless Area Conservation Policy is not a partisan issue. It is about the future of our national forests and our ability as a nation to manage them in a sustainable manner and to the benefit of all the diverse interests who seek their use. We implore you not to cash in on the short-term and short-sighted opportunity to extract resources from our pristine forests in a manner that will permanently diminish them. Instead, we urge you to take the opportunity now before you to preserve these forests for future generations.

We appreciate your consideration of our views and we look forward to working with you to ensure that America's great forest legacy will be preserved.

Sincerely,

THE RETIREMENT OF SUZANNE S. KERR

HON. DAVID E. BONIOR

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 3, 2001

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an advisor, friend and national advocate for peace, Suzy Kerr. This month Suzy will be completing her responsibilities as Executive Director of PeacePAC at the Council for a Livable World after over 10 years of service.

While working with PeacePAC and the Council, Suzy has dedicated tremendous energy, common sense, uncanny political instinct, humor and the sheer force of her irresistible personality to recruiting, electing and supporting arms control champions in the U.S. House of Representatives.

As coordinator for outreach of the Council for a Livable World Education Fund, Suzy has worked closely with national coalitions and women's, human rights, environmental, health, budget and peace organizations to educate and promote combined efforts to reduce the threat of nuclear war and lower military spending.

PeacePAC is an affiliate of the Council for a Livable World, founded in 1962 by nuclear scientists concerned about the menace of nuclear war. Since its inception, the Council has helped elect over 104 U.S. Senators. The Council's ability to raise millions of dollars for candidates has helped it gain recognition as the electoral arm of the peace movement. In 1982, the Council organized PeacePAC to help elect candidates to the House. As a non-partisan, grass-roots political action committee, PeacePAC supports candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives who are committed to nuclear arms control, nuclear disarmament, the prevention of nuclear war, and significant reductions in military spending.

It is a pleasure to honor Suzy—a fellow Michiganian, who has served in and out of political life in Washington since 1966 when she worked as a personal assistant to Representative Seymour Halpern from New York. She was elected as a Udall delegate to the Democratic Convention in 1976, and went on to serve President Carter as the Assistant Director of the White House Visitor's Office from 1977 to 1980. While raising her two children, Sarah and Charlie, with her husband, Gordon Kerr, she worked for the New York State Assembly in Washington, D.C., and completed her Bachelor of Arts at American University.

In the mid-eighties, she became the Field Director, and later the Washington Director for Women's Action for a New Direction (WAND). During Suzy's tenure at WAND, it was the only national women's activist and grassroots PAC focused on advocating for nuclear arms control and disarmament and reductions in military spending.

In 1991, Suzy became the Executive Director of PeacePAC. During Suzy's tenure, PeacePAC has raised nearly $1.5 million for pro-arms control candidates. In the last few years, PeacePAC has contributed more to deserving candidates in critical House races than all other peace political action committees combined. Currently, 78 Members of Congress have been helped by PeacePAC.

Representing concerned voters and contributors from across the country, Suzy has used PeacePAC's substantive expertise and political power to ensure that strong voices in the House are committed to reducing the nuclear threat and defining national security in terms of domestic as well as military concerns.

As PeacePAC supporters know, the sweeping changes in the post-Cold War world have given us an unprecedented opportunity to elect members who will question "big-ticket" items such as the B-2 Stealth Bomber and a misguided missile defense that has yet to test successfully. I am confident and grateful that even as Suzy completes her service, PeacePAC will continue to work for the election of candidates who will fight for policies and budgets that reflect the new international realities of an increasingly inter-dependent global community.

Of course, we wish Suzy every success in her new endeavor: supervising the day-to-day progress of her first grandchild, Porter Jay Iselin.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Congress, the members and supporters of PeacePAC and the Council for a Livable World, and all who have benefited from her work, I thank you for the opportunity to give recognition to Suzanne S. Kerr, for her service to the nation and the world on behalf of peace and security.
